Important notice from the California Department of Public Health about

Visitor Limitation Guidance

What to know

Someone can be with you if you need to go to the hospital.

You can have one person in the room with you if you need help.

What's changing

You can choose two people to help you while you're in the hospital. Only one person can be with you at a time. The person helping you must stay in your room and cannot be sick. Some hospitals might also help you talk to people on the phone or video.

Please contact your local regional center. If they cannot help you, please email DDSC19@dds.ca.gov
