How did vour organization use input from the community and/or target population to design the project? What methods did your organization use to allow the community to advise you in designing the project? Were there any changes to your project design as a result of community input?

Applicant Response

Through the pandemic, CPAD has gathered a lot of feedback from various stakeholders when we had to convert in-person activities to virtual platforms through CPAD's monthly z Services, families, colleagues and self-advocates. Our training will be designed to address and respond to the challenges reported and/or experienced by our stakeholders throu feedback reflected barriers which the training will need to address:

- Parent leaders reported not having the capacity and technology know-hows to coach families on preparing for their IPP and other service related on-line meetings;
- · Families reported
 - dropping off in participating in authorized virtual services due to language barriers;
 - had a hard time presenting their IDD family member's One-page-Profile about what are important to the latter in virtual IPP meetings; difficult to engage IDD family members in virtual planning meetings;

 - feeling frustrated with navigating on-line learning and accessing resources during COVID;
 not feeling comfortable in speaking up nor asking for service support especially with on-line meetings;
- have difficulty contacting their service coordinators and other generic service providers and asking for service support
- · Feedback from Self-Determination program facilitator and Chinese families enrolled in the Self-Determination program that training in PCP One-Page-Profile is needed for Self-advocates from self-advocate group meetings expressed needing technology support during COVID 19 for their virtual activities, 2 of the 11 members reported not having the control of the contr
